PAH given a clean bill of health for patient safety

GEMMA GARDNER

INFECTION control rates at Princess Alexandra Hospital are among the best in the country, according to figures released by the NHS this week.

The data, published by the Department of Health, is part of a wider move to make NHS safety performance more transparent and prevent a repeat of the Mid Staffordshire scandal.

Patients can now use the official statistics to compare the safety performance of trusts across the UK and choose the best care for them.

The Harlow hospital was ranked as 'ok' for infection control and cleanliness, with no reported cases of C. difficile or MRSA in the three-month period covered by the results.

The PAH NHS Trust also performed well for waiting times, with 93.1 people with suspected cancer seeing a specialist within two weeks. Of those with suspected cancer, 86.3 per cent of people waited fewer than 62 days from referral to treatment.

However, the data reveals five "areas of concern" highlighted during a Care Quality Commission inspection carried out at PAH in July last year, including not having enough members of staff to keep people safe and meet their health and welfare needs.

And a third of staff members said they would not be happy with the standard of care provided by the trust in the event of a relative or friend needing treatment at the hospital.

Professor Nancy Fontaine, PAH's director of nursing and quality, said: "The trust prides itself on its transparency and openness. We are pleased that our achievements and areas for improvement are now freely visible.

"We are in the top 20 per cent of similar size trusts in the country for reporting incidents and our infection control rate remains one of the best nationally. This is testament to the excellent cleaning standards of our domestic staff and all staff being committed to hand hygiene protocol."

Professor Fontaine added: "In 2013 the trust launched a focused recruitment campaign for nurses and midwives. Further significant invest-

Exotic bird on the loose in Harlow

A COLOURFUL visitor has been ruffling feathers in the Potter Street area of Harlow - and even police admit they are baffled.

For the past few weeks residents have seen - and heard - a peacock roaming the streets but where it has come from remains a mystery.

The bird spends a lot of time on the driveway at the Chapel Fields home of Chris Latham, who said: "We're all worried it could be injured by another animal or wander into the road and be run over," she said.

Star reader Judith Scott photographed the bird on the roof of her neighbour's home, while Rosemarie Ellwood wrote on the Star's Facebook page: "It walked straight by our cat last week and into the house. It was like a comedy sketch trying to get him out again."

A spokeswoman for Essex Police said: "We have received several reports regarding a loose peacock in Harlow. We have contacted various agencies including the Pets' Corner, the RSPB and the RSPCA but have been told they cannot help."

● Do you know the peacock's owner or where it has come from? If so, contact the Star newsdesk on (01279) 451545.

Children scatter poppy seeds to mark start of First World War

CHILDREN at St Luke's Catholic Primary School ended their commemorative events marking the start of the First World War by scattering poppy seeds.

The Pyenest Road school, which is part of the Our Lady of Fatima Academy Trust with St Alban's, held a two-day event during which pupils dressed up as soldiers, nurses and doctors.

War veterans, members of the Royal British Legion and a representative of the Territorial Army attended a school mass before they made their way to the playground to spread the poppy seeds.

School spokeswoman Alison Kahouadji said: "The children really enjoyed it and we had a wonderful two days with the pupils learning about the First World War.

"We think it's important to keep those memories alive, which is why we did as much as we could. We all thought the poppy seed scattering was a nice idea to finish on."

ment has been agreed for 2014 which will increase the number of registered nurses on night duty and enable improved clinical teaching and supervisory support at the patient's bedside by senior sisters.

"The July 2013 CQC inspection indicated improvement across the organisation with five minor concerns. Since then the trust has submitted evidence to reassure the CQC and the public that those concerns have been, or are being, addressed. "We are awaiting a follow up inspection so our official rating can be amended."

She said the trust had adopted an ethos of putting patient safety and experience first, adding: "We welcome this opportunity to demonstrate the improvements we have made to quality and safety."

Charity's grim report for first-time buyers

ONLY four out of more than 200 properties for sale in Harlow were in the reach of the average working family looking to buy their first home, according to research by Shelter.

The homelessness charity compared a survey of asking prices for thousands of properties for sale in the east of England and with the mortgage that families, couples and single people on average wages could afford as first-time buyers.

The research showed that in Harlow there were 227 homes with two or more bedrooms but of these only four were classed as "affordable", meaning they cost £148,000 or less.

The figures mean that out of 47 areas in the east of England, Harlow is ranked as 11th for the least amount of affordable homes.

Across the region, 93 per cent of properties for sale were deemed unaffordable.

The charity said the Government's Help to Buy scheme would be unlikely to improve the outlook for first-time buyers, with 96 per cent of homes for sale in the east of England classed as unaffordable for families with a 95 per cent loan due to higher monthly mortgage costs.

Single people in the east of England have the least chance of getting a foot on the property ladder, with only three out of every 100 homes on the market affordable for someone on an average wage.

bianca.castro@hertsexnews.co.uk

Even couples without children who have two full-time incomes could struggle with more than three-quarters of homes for sale in the region being out of the reach of childless couples on average wages.

Shelter chief executive Campbell Robb said: "When a family looking to buy their first home searches a whole town for a place to live and finds nothing they can afford, it's clear we're not just facing a housing shortage any more. It's a full-blown drought.

"As the pool of affordable properties shrinks ever smaller, thousands of people are being forced to wave goodbye to their dreams of a home of their own - even those who've been able to put aside a large deposit.

"Our failure to build more homes is leaving a whole generation of young people with no choice but to remain trapped in expensive and unstable private renting or stuck in their childhood bedrooms for years to come, no matter how hard they work or save."

He added: "Help to Buy or tweaks to planning rules will only ever be sticking plaster solutions. Bringing a stable home back within reach will take bolder action like helping small local builders to find the finance they need to get building, and investing in a new generation of part rent, part buy homes.

"What we need right now is for politicians to roll up their sleeves and make stable homes for the next generation a top priority."

Harlow Council announced last year it would be embarking on a housebuilding programme to build new council homes for residents.

It will be the first council homes built for rent in the town since the 1980s.

Councillor Rod Truan, portfolio holder for housing, said: "So far 18 two-bedroom homes have been given planning permission and these homes will be available for rent to families on the housing needs register.

"It is a small number but we hope these homes will be the start of an ongoing council housebuilding programme in Harlow.

"Another option we are exploring is buying more family-sized homes off the open market. We are also working with housing associations and developers to ensure new housing developments provide homes and schemes for both people looking for their first home and families."

Hockey would benefit with more school involvement

SIR I was highly interested to read about the current demise in popularity of hockey in our town and understand the frustration of Bob Gotobed (Star, June 12).

However I have taught physical education in the town for over a decade now and although it is true that as a sport it has seen a decrease in popularity on the curriculum, it is also fair to say that the hockey club has never made a concerted effort to get into schools and create that link.

There are a huge number of sports which have benefitted from their involvement with schools, in particular athletics, and thanks to the enthusiasm of Harlow-based coaches from Woodford Green the town has a thriving group of young athletes.

Although this is certainly not a criticism as I understand that coaches also have full time jobs which make school-based activities difficult if Mr Gotobed and the club want to safeguard the future of their sport there really is only one place to start.

Police officers are paid to enforce the laws of the road

SIR I have lived and worked in Harlow since 1963, 22 years spent as a member of the ambulance service. I have, over the years, seen a decline in the policing of the town's roads.

As I am driving locally I see car after car with front and/or rear light defect while many drivers seldom if ever use indicators when changing direction. The misuse of roundabouts is one of the reasons why there are so many accidents.

I live in a cul-de-sac where there are four cars that I see being used daily without road tax. Therefore their insurance is null and void.

I sat in a set of traffic lights at the Third Avenue end of Abercrombie Way alongside a police car with two uniformed officers inside. Two of the three brake lights of the vehicle in front were not working and the driver was not wearing a seatbelt, but the two officers completely ignored this blatant ignorance of the Highway Code and the law.

What does this suggest to other drivers? Come on, police, get out of your comfortable station and do the job you are paid to do so the rest of us motorists will feel a little bit safer when we go out and about in the town.

Ted Bolwerk
Kingsland, Harlow

Have sympathy for residents facing year of noise and dirt

SIR Whilst I have every sympathy for drivers waiting to get on to the Second Avenue roundabout during the

Reader Robin Winterford, of Fennells, Harlow, sent in this photograph of a cute little visitor to his home. "I was sitting in the garden when a wood mouse came for his dinner," he writes.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

roadworks, I think we should remember the residents of The Gardeners, Pytt Field and especially Latton Street.

I live just 60 yards from the roundabout and if the plans get any closer foreign lorry drivers will be looking into my bedroom rather than at their sat navs.

Perhaps the council will upgrade our double glazing to counter the noise and dirt from the works. We have just endured six weeks of having the cycle track dug up for new electric cables, so what's another 52 weeks of upheaval?

Also, at the other end of Latton Street we are fighting to keep the green fields at Latton Farm instead of them being used for rugby.

Barry French
Latton Street, Harlow

Damning school report does not reflect our experience

SIR OFSTED's general damning of Longwood Primary School is not the picture I have seen over the past two years as a parent at the school.

We have a daughter in Year 1 at Longwood. We did not choose it - all our chosen schools were full and were essentially assigned to the school.

We were not the only parents in this situation and were understandably cautious. However, over the past two years we and all the parents we know have been very pleased with the teaching staff and the general facilities that the school has offered reception and Year 1 children.

Our day-to-day experience of over 25 per cent of the school has been very satisfactory yet this is not reflected at all in Tim Bristow's comments or any other contributors to the report in the Star.

Both my wife and I are dedicated education professionals with 30 years' experience as teachers and service providers to primary, secondary and further education and have been through six OFSTEDS between us.

Damning the school root and branch in such a way can only make it harder for staff to keep their morale and parents to keep their faith.

Immaculate town centre but what about the rest of town?

SIR I have to agree with the letter from J. Newman in the Star (Green spaces are an eyesore, June 12).

In the more natural parts of Harlow this doesn't seem so bad, but it is when you see more formal areas totally overgrown - areas such as St Andrew's and the remembrance garden.

I understand the council must explore all avenues to save money. However, the money being saved on green area management does not seem to include the Water Gardens which at the moment is totally resplendent and as well kept as any royal park.

Since spring the ponds have all been drained and cleaned, railings painted, new shrubbery and lowers planted and lawns kept in immaculate condition. I've even witnessed men on their hands and knees scraping moss from between the flagstones.

All this, no doubt, to showcase the town centre as typically Harlow. Unfortunately it isn't.

M.R.E. Brown
Regency Court Harlow

SIR As the county council is saving money by turning off the street lights in the early hours, maybe it should spend some of the cash getting the town looking smart.

The grass is only getting cut on the verges and beyond that is allowed to grow which makes the town look untidy - unless the council's contractors are not doing their job properly.

It looks like only sites that are accessible are being cut and no extra care is being taken to trim.

B. Hood
Brockles Mead, Harlow

Council has scored own goal by removing football posts

SIR What is the matter with Harlow Council? The world is going football crazy and all the young people want to do is play it.

So why has the council taken down the goalposts at Ladyshot playing field? I know it is the end of the football season but surely another month wouldn't matter.

I regularly walk my dogs round this field and every evening there are groups of young people playing football. How good it would be for them to have proper goals.

Surely this is much better than playing in the street. No playschemes and the school holidays are also coming up, so let's encourage the use of our playing fields.

Music students donated cash from concert to Pets' Corner

SIR I would like to thank the final year music students at Harlow College for the gig they put on at the Town Park on the afternoon of Sunday, June 8.

It was a great afternoon in the sun, and all money they raised they donated to Friends of Harlow Pets' Corner.

Thank you also to David Shimmen who let them use the bandstand for free. It was much appreciated by all.

Good Samaritans stepped in to help accident victims

SIR On my way to Old Harlow shops recently I fell and hurt my knee.

Immediately two people - a man on a motorbike and a woman in a car - stopped to help. They lifted me up and took me to the nearby doctor's surgery where a nurse saw to my knee.

The kindness of these people turned a nasty incident into something to celebrate.

Vera Hughes
Cowling, Old Harlow

SIR I would like to thank the five gentlemen and one lady who helped me outside the Playhouse theatre in Harlow, when I fell onto my back and badly hit my head.

They phoned for an ambulance and all waited with me for nearly an hour until the paramedics arrived and took me to PAH. I had a scan, was badly bruised but allowed home that evening.

Thank you also from a very grateful 80-year-old to the A&E staff and the paramedics who were all very kind.

Drinker banned for threatening to smash up pub

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A DRUNKEN customer who swore at the manager of a Harlow town centre pub and threatened to smash it up has been banned by a court from entering the premises for six months.

Painter and decorator Martin Burton, 26, of Tunnmeade, Harlow, pleaded guilty at Chelmsford Magistrates Court on Tuesday to using threatening behaviour at the William Aylmer pub in Kitson Way on June 7.

Tamsin Sharp, prosecuting, said Burton had been drinking with friends in the pub and regularly going outside to the smoking area.

When bar manager Chanel Flemming saw the group walking out of the premises with pint glasses and told them they were not allowed to do so, Burton replied: "Who the f are you to tell me what I can and cannot do?"

The court was told that when Ms Flemming went outside again, Burton said to her: "Me and the boys are going to come back and smash the pub up."

Ms Sharp said that while Ms Flemming was calling police to report the incident she noticed Burton was being abusive towards other members of staff. He walked off but was arrested later.

When interviewed by police, he said he could not remember what he had said because he had had too much to drink.

Liz Middleton, representing Burton, said in mitigation he had not had an alcoholic drink since the incident and was very apologetic.

She said he had recently split up with his long-term girlfriend and had run out of work, two factors which caused him to act out of character.

Burton was banned from the pub for six months as part of a 12-month community order. They also ordered him to carry out 80 hours of unpaid work and ordered him to pay £145 costs.

Home is where the art is as sculptor unveils town's latest piece of work

A NEW sculpture has been added to Harlow's nationally renowned collection of public works of art.

The sculpture - Port of Calls by Jonathan Clarke who is a member of the Royal Society of British Sculptors - has been unveiled at the Belmont Place development in Fifth Avenue, Harlow.

Mr Clarke was joined by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, Friends of Harlow Sculpture chairwoman Jenny Lushington, Harlow Art Trust members David Mitchinson, Angela Godfrey and Sue McDonald and Harlow councillor Muriel Jolles for the unveiling ceremony.

Adrian Sims, operations director of housebuilders Barratt North London, said: "We had great pleasure in unveiling this magnificent sculpture and are delighted that it is situated at our Belmont Place development."

"This work of art is a tremendous addition to Harlow and further endorses its status as the UK's first sculpture town."

Foodbank appeal to recruit volunteer driver

A CHARITY providing emergency food supplies to people in and around Harlow is in need of help itself.

Harlow Foodbank, which has fed more than 10,000 people since it was set up almost five years ago, is urgently looking for a volunteer van driver to cover Fridays, working from 9am-1pm each week.

Gary Knott, the foodbank's director of community services, said: "We are urgently looking for a volunteer and we would also ask candidates to be flexible as we will sometimes need help on supermarket collection weekends which we have two or three times a year, and covering holidays and sickness."

The van is used to collect food from various drop-off points around the town and deliver it to a warehouse where it is stored before being distributed to those in need.

When the foodbank recently secured a two-year sponsorship deal for the van from Places for People, Mr Knott said: "The van has become an absolute lifeline for our day-to-day work."

Volunteers willing to offer their services to drive the van must be at least 30 and have a clean driving license. For more information contact Gary on (01279) 724515 or email garyknott@mrct.org.uk.

Gardeners' efforts to boost hospice funds

KEEN gardeners and St Clare Hospice supporters will be welcoming visitors to view the fruits of their labours during the 20th annual open gardens weekend.

The two-day event on Saturday and Sunday, organised by the Harlow Friends of St Clare Hospice, is an opportunity for members of the public to wander round some of the best kept green spaces in and around Harlow.

Set up by St Clare stalwart Ann Gould in 1994 after she was inspired by visiting an event for another charity, the first open gardens weekend raised £900 for the Hastingwood hospice.

Like the lovingly tended gardens on display, the event has grown and grown, last year generating £6,500.

Recently, more than 40 loyal supporters gathered at the hospice to celebrate the 20th anniversary with a beautifully themed cake taking centre stage.

St Clare director of fundraising Elizabeth Palfreman said: "The open gardens weekend combines two of my favourite things - gardening and cake!" "The Harlow Friends work incredibly hard to open their gardens and there is a type of planting to suit everyone. The event this weekend is firmly in my calendar."

When the couple moved in 16 years ago the plot was a large bare field with no planting of any sort but under the their loving care it has flourished into a picturesque cottage garden with abundant shrub beds and a large vegetable patch.

Last summer the Greens were inundated with visitors eager to have a look round. "We really enjoy it because most people who come through the gate love gardening just like us," said Pat.

"Usually we are the only ones who see the garden so it's nice to open it up for others to enjoy. Dave is pottering out there most days so it's lovely that other people get to appreciate his hard work."

Entrance to all the participating gardens is by programme only. They cost £3.50 and include a map to help visitors navigate the area. Programmes are available from Ann Gould on (01279) 830886.

Pamper night raises funds for hospital

A GROUP of childminders who held a fundraising pamper night have handed over some of the proceeds to the children's ward at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The Church Langley Registered Childminders raised £904 when they held the event at Harlow Town Football Club earlier this year.

The group has now presented a cheque for £452 to Dolphin Ward. The money will be used towards the cost of purchasing a new piece of equipment for the children's sensory room. Group chairman Linda Reynolds said some of the remainder of the money had been spent taken the younger children to Ashlyn's Farm at Easter while the rest would be used to hold a roller disco for the older children within the group during the summer holidays.

Academy hosts event for charity

THE Friends of Passmore Academy will be holding a family fun day and charity football match on Sunday, July 13.

Entry is £1 per adult and the money will go to the Darcie Mai Project which raises funds for Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

It will be held at the school in Tracey's Road and will feature a bungee run and inflatable zone, water zorbing, face painting and other entertainments.

There will also be a football match will be between an emergency services team and a team from Passmore Academy. The event runs from midday to 4pm.

Charity searching for an accountant

AN expanding Harlow-based charity is looking for an accountant to join its board of directors.

The CALM Centre, which is based at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, provides confidential, affordable and professional counselling to people over the age of 18. It has been operating in the town for 25 years.

The centre is looking to recruit a volunteer trustee, who is currently working as an accountant, to be a member of its board of directors.

Anyone thinking of taking on the role must be able to attend evening or daytime meetings and will preferably live within the area that CALM serve.

For more details or to apply call (01279) 411330 or email l.stevenson@calmcentre.co.uk.

Shoppers swell foodbank coffers

SUPERMARKET shoppers dug deep to support the work of Harlow Foodbank.

Customers of the Asda store in the Water Gardens donated a total of £1,120 when foodbank volunteers held a cash collection on June 6 and 7.

"We were delighted to received £1,120 which was a wonderful amount of money that will go towards the general work of the foodbank," said spokesman Gary Knott.

"We would also like to thank our great team of volunteers and Rachel Forth and her staff team from Asda."

The second prize of £1,400 was not won and rolls over to the next draw.

Born in Japan, much of Noriko's childhood was spent daydreaming about imaginary worlds and doodling in notebooks.

While art was her passion, she became a Japanese language teacher and taught Japanese in Lebanon, Canada and the UK.

During travelling, she decided to follow her passion and went on to study visual arts at Memorial University of Newfoundland in Canada

Government gives £4.4m for potholes

ESSEX County Council has been handed more than £4m by the Government to help repair 83,000 pothole problems.

County Hall will receive the funding as part of plans to fill more than three million faults nationwide in a massive investment in the country's local and major roads.

Councils across England have been allocated £168m from a dedicated Pothole Repair Fund. As a condition of receiving the money, they are required to publish monthly progress updates on how many potholes have been repaired.

As part of the June giveaway, Essex will receive £4,431,611 - enough to fix 83,000. The county council received £2,700,386 in the March 2014 Weather Repair Fund, bringing the additional annual total to £7,131,997.

On Tuesday the county council agreed to supplement this grant with an extra £6m for roads from £17m savings made by the authority last year.

The grants are the latest in a series of announcements which will see more than £24 billion spent on England's strategic road network between 2010 and 2021 - which the Government claims is the biggest investment since the 1970s.

Work has also begun to resurface nearly two million square metres across the county. Its involves spraying the existing road surface with a coating of hot bitumen and stone chippings which are rolled into the bitumen to form a water-resistant, protective layer, improving the road's skid resistance and extending its life.

The roads will be subject to a 20mph advisory speed limit for up to two weeks following application.

Cllr Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways and transportation said: "We are investing in this cost-effective surface dressing method to maintain the integrity of the road network and extend the life of the road."

Teen found with drugs hidden in underpants

A TEENAGE drug runner who was caught hiding wraps of crack cocaine and heroin in his underpants has been sent to a young offenders institution for 12 months.

Chelmsford Crown Court was told Ewen Ferguson, 18, of Long Banks, Harlow, started using cannabis when he went to college and then worked as a dealer's runner to clear his own drug debts.

Ferguson pleaded guilty to two offences of possessing crack cocaine and heroin with intent to supply. He also admitted two other charges of possessing ecstasy and cannabis.

star@hertsexnews.co.uk

Richard Stevens, prosecuting, said police saw three men acting suspiciously in Harlow near to where they expected there to be an arranged drugs meet.

One of them was Ferguson who, when searched, was found to have 24 wraps of class A crack cocaine and eight wraps of class A heroin hidden in his underwear.

The student painter and decorator also had a quantity of cannabis in a carrier bag. Police later found six wraps of ecstasy in his bedroom.

Simon Gledhill, representing

Ferguson, said in mitigation his client was a drug runner. "He was given an amount and was then told where to take them. He didn't take the orders himself and was told to collect the money and take it back."

Mr Glenhill said the freedom of college and peer association led him into using cannabis.

"His cannabis use became out of control, beyond what he could manage and afford," he said. "He took the path of least resistance when he chose to help on behalf of the dealer to eradicate his debt."

The court was told Ferguson was of previous good character and came from a close and supportive family.

Passing sentence, judge Charles Gratwicke said Ferguson had been actively involved in selling drugs on the streets, a trade which the judge branded "a scourge of our community".

He told the defendant: "You had an active role. You were armed with a phone, you collected the money and were holding drugs. The court cannot ignore that and a custodial sentence there must be."

The judge also ordered the confiscation of £190 in cash which was found on the defendant when he was arrested.

Time for tea as residents celebrate Carers Week

STAFF and residents at Alexandra House in Harlow marked Carers Week with afternoon tea. Families and members of the public were also invited to join them at the care home in Hamstel Road on Friday.

Carers Week is a UK-wide annual awareness campaign. Its aim is to improve the lives of carers and the people they care for.

The awareness campaign aims to improve the lives of the UK's 6.5 million carers and the people they care for.

A spokesman for Alexandra House said: "Everyone had a lovely time at the event and we also had lots of friends and family visit, as well as members of the public."

Tour to impact on bus services

BUS passengers are being advised to prepare for disruption to services when the Tour de France arrives in Essex next month.

A total of 24 services will be affected between 7.30am and 5pm on Monday, July 7. Thirteen will not be running while others will be severely disrupted.

Major delays are expected on services that continue to run and revised timetables are also being put in place.

Cllr Ann Naylor, Essex County Council's cabinet member for public health and wellbeing, said: "It is really important regular bus users are aware of changes and cancellations and plan around them. Our advice is not to travel on the day if you don't have to and re-arrange any appointments scheduled for that day."

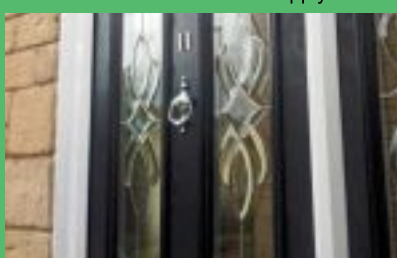

A full list of affected services can be viewed at www.LeTourEssex.com.

Nursery children 'excited and eager to learn'

RAINDROPS Day Nursery in Harlow have been judged outstanding in all categories following their latest Ofsted inspection.

To celebrate its success, the nursery held a special celebration at their Harberts Road nursery on Monday to which it invited Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner and chairman Ian Beckett to attend.

Harlow Council has established a Harlow Strategic Partnership for Educational Attainment to support improvements in educational attainment. Part of this work is to ensure that before schoolchildren are equipped with the skills to learn. Cllr Clempner said: "The council knows how vitally important education is to the life chances of people in Harlow. Early years provision in particular can set young people off on the right path to a lifelong love of learning. "It is particularly pleasing for the council, therefore, to see that Raindrops Day Nursery continuing to set an outstanding example.

"This results in children who, in the words of the Ofsted inspector, are excited, confident and eager to learn, and that the partnership with parents is exceptional. I'd like to offer my congratulations and thanks to all the staff at Raindrops for being a beacon of excellence in Harlow."

Concern over future of Kingsmoor House

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE future of a listed building in Harlow remains uncertain after planning permission for the site expired.

Kingsmoor House, in Paringdon Road, housed council and community services for 25 years before it was shut in 2006. Since then the Grade II* listed building has been targeted by intruders searching for metal.

In 2009, planning permission was granted to convert the building into nine apartments, but according to Harlow Copuncil this expired earlier this month before work had been started.

Cllr Andrew Johnson, leader of the Conservative opposition on Harlow Council, said: "The council needs to ensure that something is done to make sure this historic building doesn't decay any further."

In 2012, the council-owned building was sold to developers Jigsaw Retirement Solutions, who this week told the Star they have instructed their architects to reapply for planning permission.

However a spokesman for Jigsaw

Retirement Solutions said they had lost funding secured for the development and would look to sell the site if they were unable to secure more.

The spokesman said: "Red tape has meant the project has stalled. The conditions imposed and the financial climate have brought the development to a standstill."

Kingsmoor House is an 18th century coach house with 19th century additions. Listed building consent is still in place for the development but a planning application is still required.

A council spokesman said: "The developers would need to reapply for planning permission before they can start work as it has expired."

Council to review voting districts and polling stations

HARLOW Council is asking residents for their view as part of a review of its polling districts and places where people vote.

Under the Representation of the People Act 1983 the council must carry out a review of polling districts and polling places (voting locations) to make sure that all voters are able to cast their votes in places which are fit for purpose.

While there are no plans to propose any major changes at this time, residents' feedback will help the council to ensure that Harlow's polling facilities are reasonable for voting and, as far as is reasonable, accessible to all voters.

The consultation runs until August 29. For more information or to complete the questionnaire visit www.harlow.gov.uk/elections-polling.

Inbetweeners star Joe presents certificates

ACTOR Joe Thomas, star of the hit Channel 4 show The Inbetweeners, joined pupils from secondary schools in Harlow, Sawbridgeworth and Bishop's Stortford to celebrate the completion of a course aimed at promoting personal safety.

The Keep Your Self Safe programme is run by the Harlow-based charity Young Concern Trust of which Joe – who plays Simon in the hit comedy show – is a patron.

It was delivered to students at Mark Hall and Burnt Mill academies in Harlow, Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth, Bishop's Stortford High School, Herts and Essex High School and Birchwood High School.

The six-week programme included sessions on healthy relationships, drugs, alcohol and smoking, sexual health, crime and homelessness.

The students involved in the programme gathered at Leventhorpe to mark its completion and collect their certificates from Joe. YCT's operational manager Sally Gubb said: "KYSS has provided an innovative way in which young people can learn about and explore issues that impact on their lives. "It's great that Joe was able to join us – there was a real buzz of excitement."

Pupils bowled over by England cricketer

CHILDREN at William Martin Junior School, in Tawneys Road, Harlow, were able to brush up on their cricket skills when England cricketer Lydia Greenway visited.

Lydia, who plays for the England women's team, spoke to the pupils during assembly and then held a cricket masterclass to encourage girls to take up the sport.

She said: "It was a really good visit. We held an assembly in the morning and then worked specifically with the girls. "We did some skills training based around fielding mainly and then finished with a game. I've spotted a few stars and it's been a great visit."

Deputy headteacher Angela Brister added: "It is about getting the girls involved in sport.

"At William Martin we have talked a lot about how we can get even more girls involved in sport. We do a lot of mixed teams in Harlow but it is all about building confidence."

Pre-school welcomes visitors 'who help'

YOUNGSTERS at the Buzzee Beez pre-school at the Trinity United Reformed Church in Harberts Road, Harlow, welcomed several visitors for a programme of talks on the theme of people who help.

Among those invited to speak to the children were police community support officers, firefighters and a guide dog owner.

Manager Gaynor Baker said: "We had three weeks worth of visits all based around the topic of people who help us. It was about teaching the children all about those important people whose work is based around helping.

"The children really enjoyed it and all were involved with as many of the visits as possible. It was great."

She added: "The firefighters came in their fire truck and the children loved playing on it and exploring all the different parts.

"The PSCOs also did a fingerprinting exercise which everyone enjoyed and Buster the guide dog - who was only six months old - was really popular."

Labour call for U-turn on street lights switch-off

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

LABOUR Party supporters led by Harlow parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride held a campaign day calling on Essex County Council to reverse its decision to switch off street lights.

The part-night lighting scheme was introduced in the town in March as part of County Hall's bid to save money and reduce carbon emissions and light pollution.

The lights are switched off between midnight and 5am, although certain areas including town centres, key road junctions and accident blackspots are excluded.

However, Ms Stride said she was concerned at the consequences of the switch-off and the cost of implementing the scheme.

Labour claims the council will have spent around £8.1m on the lighting scheme by 2023/24 but will not break even or make any net savings until 2020/2021. The information was gained from ECC following a full council meeting.

Ms Stride, who has launched a petition on the issue, said: "Across the town people have real concerns about the street-light switch off."

"The residents I spoke to in Mark Hall told me of an increase in break-ins to their vehicles and a lack of personal security when out after dark."

She added: "With confirmation that this is costing more than it saves in the first five years, it's time county council listened to local people and reviewed their decision."

"Our petition calls on county council to put people first and look again at their decision. I look forward to presenting it in due course."

But the council have said the figures are "no longer current".

A spokesman for Essex County Council said: "The savings from residents from its investment in a wireless streetlight control system depend on many factors such as changing energy prices."

"Predictions previously circulated are no longer current. Up-to-date figures containing actual savings are to be compiled in due course."

"ECC welcomes petitions from residents. The procedure for creating and submitting an eligible petition is outlined in the council's petitions policy."

"The council considers and responds to eligible petitions, depending upon the nature of the petition and the number of signatories."

To sign Ms Stride's petition visit www.harlowlabour.org/street_light_petition.

Man denies assault at Chinese restaurant

A HARLOW man has appeared in court accused of attacking a diner outside a Chinese restaurant in Pilgrims Hatch.

Brentwood on December 8 last year.

The victim of the alleged assault, Lee Lewis from Hertfordshire, was left with a broken jaw after the incident.

Judge Ian Graham released Cywinski on conditional bail to re-appear before Basildon Crown Court in the week beginning September 8.

Youth band's love of brass shines through

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MUSIC lovers who enjoy the sounds of brass may recognise the cover of a Harlow youth band's third LP.

Regular Nostalgia contributor Ron Bill was looking through his record collection when he came across the sleeve and thought it might stir a few memories.

The Netteswell Youth Band, which was officially formed in November 1967, recorded Suddenly It's Netteswell on October 22, 1978 at Netteswell School, where the young musicians regularly held concerts.

The track listing includes such well-known tunes as Waltzing Matilda, Spanish Eyes, Y Viva Espana and Those Magnificent Men In Their Flying Machines. The cover was designed by E.J. Hilton and the recording engineer was Barrie Hilton.

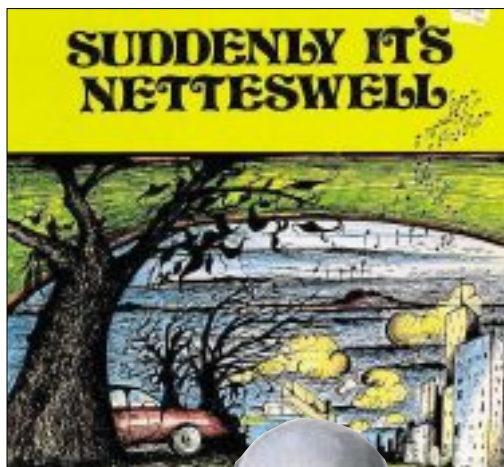

The band's director of music was Bramwell Taylor, pictured right, who became head of music at the school in 1964 and started the youth band during his time there.

Cumbrian-born Mr Taylor held his post as head of music for 20 years and became a freelance musician after the school's closure in 1984. However, he continued to conduct the band.

Notes on the back of the LP cover read: "For those who have never experienced a Netteswell Youth Band concert this record make come as a surprise."

It says the LP captures the sounds of "a group of young people who enjoy one another's company and the thrill of making music together, and who are prepared and dedicated enough to give it many hours of their time."

It goes on: "These Harlow youngsters, however, are something special. They have come from an area without a brass band tradition and reached out beyond the boundaries of their own town to build for themselves an international reputation."

Regular readers of Nostalgia will no doubt remember our previous stories about the band which earned an international reputation as it performed not only in the UK - including the Royal Albert Hall and Westminster Abbey - but also in Austria, Norway, Germany, Switzerland and Holland.

What a lot of bottles! Boys Brigade collect empty medicine containers

As the saying goes, one man's rubbish is another man's treasure. Back in 1974, the Harlow Boys Brigade proved that point.

The youngsters, who met at Pear Tree Mead, collected 600 medicine bottles and pill containers as part of an 'empties' drive.

Their haul included 450 glass medicine bottles and 150 plastic pill containers, all of which came from houses in Latton Bush and Great Parndon.

The containers were then handed in to the J.B. Dyehouse pharmacy at Bush Fair.

Their efforts made the pages of the Harlow Gazette and Citizen, which reported that there was a national shortage of bottles at chemist shops.

The race to save trapped caveman

AN incredible rescue mission to save the life of a man who was trapped at the bottom of a cave for almost two weeks has ended in success.

Johann Westhauser was stuck at the bottom of the cave more than 900 metres below the surface of the earth in Germany.

He was injured by falling rocks while exploring the complex of caves with two other people.

While one his teammates set off to raise the alarm, the other one stayed with him to care for him as he slipped in and out of consciousness.

It was a race against time to save him from further rockfalls and potential flash floods.

A team of 200 people from four countries - Switzerland, Germany, Italy and Austria - took part in the rescue mission to free the 52-year-old cave explorer, who became trapped by the falling rocks.

Sixty rescuers were sent underground tasked with bringing him to the surface, while the rest co-ordinated the huge effort from above.

Lying on a stretcher, he had to be hauled inch by inch through the twisting and turning grottos of cave complex which he had discovered more than 10 years ago.

The rescuers had to spray him with insulation foam to keep him warm during the lift which took six days to complete.

Cake winner Rebecca full of praise for 'amazing' hospice

TASTE OF SUCCESS: Rebecca and her daughters Alia and Jahzie with cake bakers Vicki Loveday and Leona Martin

FOR one family in Old Harlow, supporting St Clare Hospice has turned out to be a piece of cake.

The organisers of this weekend's Midnight Walk commissioned local bakers Leona Martin and Vicki Loveday of Infinita Cakes to create a bespoke cake to give away in a competition on the hospice's Facebook page.

On Tuesday the four-layered purple and yellow sponge topped with a handcrafted Midnight Walker figurine was presented to winner Rebecca Cox and her daughters Alia and Jahzie.

Rebecca, whose husband Nick, 40, died at St Clare in March, said the family had received "amazing support" from the hospice staff throughout his battle with bowel cancer.

The cake took Leona, an assistant practitioner with the respiratory team at St Margaret's Hospital in Epping, and district nurse Vicki four hours to make.

"We are both from the community nursing teams in the area so when we decided to collaborate on our other common interest of baking classic cakes, we were in agreement we would hope to become involved in fundraising for St Clare."

"After contacting the team at St Clare, we were both thrilled and honoured to be asked to be involved in this year's Midnight Walk."

Stepping back in time at Midnight Walk fun night

WITH just two days to go until St Clare Hospice's annual Midnight Walk, organisers have made a final rallying call for people to take part.

This year's event, which takes place in Harlow on Saturday, has been given a makeover with an '80s fun night theme and a new purple and yellow colour scheme.

Over the past few weeks hospice staff and volunteers have been visiting shops and events throughout the area to drum up support for the fundraiser, which has generated hundreds of thousands of pounds since it was first held in 2008.

More than 600 people have pre-registered to take part - but anyone who has not yet signed up can still do so on the night.

Walkers have the choice of two distances - 5km or 10km - both of which will start from outside the Asda supermarket in the Water Gardens car park and follow routes around the town.

Both distances will be marshalled by volunteers and first aid will be available for anyone who needs it during the evening.

The organisers are encouraging walkers to have fun with the fashion theme by dressing up in leg warmers, velour tracksuits and headbands. There will be stalls selling 1980s merchandise for those who want to make a quick purchase before starting the walk.

Registration will start at 7pm and both walks begin at 9.30pm. Registration on the night is £20 per person and everyone taking part will receive a medal, a T-shirt and a goody bag.

St Clare communications and marketing assistant Eleanor Scotchbrook said: "We hope that the community will get behind the hos-

THIS year's 1980s theme struck a chord with Midnight Walk sponsors NWES which was set up in 1982 to help combat the effects of large-scale redundancies.

"For the past four years a team from NWES has undertaken an annual challenge to raise money for charity and in all our efforts have helped raise more than £7,000 for good causes," said NWES centre co-ordinator Sheena Freeman, pictured above, with colleagues Erica Bromage and Marcelle Castle.

"When we learned that St Clare was re-launching the very popular Midnight Walk with a 1980s theme we knew we had to get more involved. As NWES was born in the 1980s this seemed an ideal link."

price and join us for our '80s fun night to help make this year's Midnight Walk the best yet."

● TWO members of the hospice staff will be doing their own versions of the Midnight Walk while on holiday.

Nursing assistant Lorraine Mosley and retail sales manager Fiona Easton will prove distance is no barrier to taking part during their summer trips abroad. Lorraine will be doing the Midnight Walk in Cyprus in memory of her brother Brian, who died at the hospice in 2011. "The route I will take follows a coastal path and I will walk it early in the morning while it's still cool," she said.

Fiona and her son James will complete their walk during a trip to the United States. "We are really excited about our trip across the pond but even though we won't be in the country on the night of the Midnight Walk we will still be doing our own version while we are sightseeing in Washington."

Dappy and S Club on Cazfest line-up

N-DUBZ star Dappy, UK garage heavyweights The Artful Dodger and American R&B singer Alexander O'Neal have been added to the line-up for this year's Cazfest music festival.

They will join pop heroes S Club and Stortford's own Britain's Got Talent star Ed Drewett for the event in Swarder's Field, Bishop's Stortford, on Saturday, July 12.

As frontman of grime/hip hop trio N-Dubz, with cousin Tulisa and Fazer as bandmates, 27-year-old Dappy – real name Costadinos Contostavlos – had eight UK top 40 hits before tasting chart success as a solo artist with back-to-back No 1s No Regrets and Rockstar.

Alexander O'Neal is best known for Eighties hits If You Were Here Tonight, Criticize and Fake.

Singer-songwriter Ed Drewett is no stranger to the Cazfest stage having been a supporter of the event over the years. Already a well-known name in Stortford, Ed – who has co-written hits for One Direction, The Wanted and Olly Murs – has risen to prominence over the past month following his appearance on ITV's Britain's Got Talent where he reached the semi-finals with his own song Blink.

Fellow TV talent show act Rough Copy are also due to appear on the main stage. The vocal harmony group, who hail from Croydon, finished fourth on last year's series of The X Factor.

S Club have become firm Cazfest favourites after putting on a show full of their greatest hits including S Club Party, Reach and Don't Stop Movin'. Having previously appeared as a threesome, the band will be rejoined this year by former member Tina Barrett.

Also appearing on the main stage throughout the day are Jodie Aysha, singer-songwriter Dean Austin, Battle of the Bands competition winners Redwood, Hip-hopera pioneers Josephine and The Artizans, Axel Loughrey, Los Ladrões de Amor, Duane Flames and upcoming R&B/pop-infused boy band Raw, from Newcastle.

NATALIE DEARMAN

The Artful Dodger are to headline the festival's dance tent. Originally comprising producers Mark Hill and Pete Devereux, and now made up of MC Alistair and DJ Dave Low, the band is established as the most commercially successful UK garage act to date, spawning hits such as Re-Rewind (featuring Craig David), Movin' Too Fast and Woman Trouble.

Dance tent sets will also be hosted by Jozeff, Just Jay, Will Marshall, Luke Davies, Jack Spong and Ben Williams, plus more to be announced.

Bands from Stortford's De Rosa Music academy will open proceedings on the second stage before indie/folk singer-songwriter Annabel Allum performs.

Other acts featuring on stage two throughout the day include Natalie Maher, a local singer who will perform covers and original songs with her band, acoustic singer-songwriter Ryan Thwaites who will perform songs from his new album, Dirty Lions, who will treat audiences to "dirty jazz mixed with sonic Esperanto"; The Kazans, a four-piece who perform rock/pop originals, and Fugitive Isles, an alternative act who play a blend of indie-rock and grunge.

Alongside the music there will be stalls and refreshments.

Cazfest was established in 2009 in memory of Bishop's Stortford High School sixth-former Caroline 'Caz' Johnstone, who lived with mum and dad Lesley and Alastair and brother Ross in Little Hadham.

The 17-year-old collapsed while out with friends at a Harlow nightclub in June 2008 as a result of an undiagnosed heart condition.

The charity was subsequently set up to raise awareness of cardiac problems in young people and make heart screening a standard procedure in schools across Herts and Essex.

Cazfest has welcomed big names over the years including Sugababes, Scouting For Girls and The Hoosiers.

Caroline's dad, Alastair, known as Johnny, said: "The festival is always a great day. It takes a lot of hard work but to see the pleasure on people's faces is great."

>>>Tickets are £20 in advance or £25 on the day. For more information or to buy tickets visit www.cazfest.com.

MUSIC It's another first for Harlow as a local choir premieres a unique anthem as part of the town's arts festival. Harlow USA Choir will be performing I Sing!, an exhilarating four-part harmony anthem specially written for them by local composer Nicola Hutchison with lyrics by Carrie Webster.

Choir musical director Sue Mason said: "No other choir in the whole of the country has performed it. We will be singing it for the first time as part of the town's Arts Festival."

Nicola and Carrie produced I Sing! after sitting in on a choir rehearsal last autumn and asking for members' personal comments on the choir and what it means to them. The resultant libretto is based on a cross-section of quotes from chorists.

Nicola is a multi-disciplinary artist working in composition, visual art, sonic art and performance. A former student of Mark Hall School and Harlow College, she returned to the town after completing a fine art degree at the Hull School of Art.

More recently, she gained an MSc in music composition for film and media from the University of Hertfordshire and was commissioned to create a sonic installation for the UH Art Collection as part of the university's diamond jubilee celebrations. She teaches at Hertfordshire College of Music, Ware.

Carrie grew up in the London Borough of Waltham Forest and moved to Harlow in 2005. She has studied sound engineering and worked in the arts for many years, including working alongside the former Harlow Council arts officer.

The anthem will be performed as part of the USA Choir's contribution to The Art of the Garden Party, the closing event of the Harlow Arts Festival, which will be held in the grounds of the Museum of Harlow on Sunday, July 6 from 1-4pm. Admission is free.

Enjoy a taste of summer

IMAGINE stepping out on to your patio to pick fresh herbs for your cooking – from fragrant basil to accompany ripe tomatoes and mozzarella, coriander to sprinkle on spicy curries and salads, mint to add to your Pimm's or rosemary to sprinkle over lamb chops on the barbecue. Sounds idyllic doesn't it?

Fresh herbs are such a staple in today's kitchens, yet the shop-bought ones so often end up wilting on the windowsill before you've had time to use them.

If you are planning a herb garden or a group of herbs in pots, place them near the kitchen where they are easily accessible. A small collection can be planted in a cartwheel pattern, or even in a planter with separate pockets, each segment planted with a different herb.

On a larger scale, a bed can be divided into segments, each for a different herb, fringed with a dwarf hedge such as lavender to define the edges.

Formal herb gardens are traditionally round or square, often with a clipped low-growing hedge around the outside and something bigger, such as a bay in a large pot or a sundial or birdbath, in the middle, with a mixture of herbs filling the space.

Informal herb gardens are easier to tend to as you can mix the herbs to include both perennials and annuals, adding plants such as lavender and foxgloves to give the area a bit more colour.

When planting a border of herbs, place the tallest at the back so they don't shade out the smaller ones. Angelica grows up to 2m (6ft) and will self-seed freely. Mint and lemon balm are invasive so should be planted in pots or buckets in the ground so their roots are confined and don't swamp other less vigorous plants.

Groups of symmetrically arranged raised beds provide an easy and attractive way to cultivate a wide range of herbs without having to tread on soil, plus you can cater for the soil and watering needs of different herbs.

You can just as easily grow pots of herbs on your patio or in a windowbox in the right situation and with the right soil.

Most herbs used for cooking and for their fragrance are natives of the Mediterranean and do best in warm sunny conditions in well-drained soil, with added grit.

Those in containers may need daily

Gardening tips and news

watering in hot weather but some, such as basil, will resent going to bed at night with wet leaves or sodden compost, so water in the morning before they are in direct sunlight.

Many herbs don't like rich, moisture-retentive growing conditions, so you'll need to give them what they need. Coriander doesn't like being crowded and won't thrive in cool conditions, parsley is greedy and requires a rich, moisture-retentive soil, while thyme prefers poor, very well-drained soil.

Basil likes warmth and shelter but won't do well in searing sun, so grow it in pots of soilless potting compost in semi shade.

Remove the flowers from shortlived leafy herbs such as chervil and basil to keep them growing longer and from coriander and dill if you don't want seeds but would rather have the leaves.

Before too long, you should be able to pick aromatic, flavoursome herbs from your garden rather than veering towards the wilting leaves of the shop-bought ones on your windowsill.

MRS BROWN'S BOYS D'MOVIE certificate 15 1h35m

FIRST conceived for Irish radio and then as a series of books, the misadventures of feisty Dublin matriarch Agnes Brown (Brendan O'Carroll) transitioned seamlessly from stage to the small screen in 2011 with the birth of the BBC sitcom Mrs Brown's Boys.

Creator O'Carroll cast numerous relatives and friends in supporting roles, ensuring that the programme was a family affair. Critics may not have been kind but the series, which is recorded live in front of an audience and incorporates out-takes, quickly gained an ardent following.

Now, Agnes and her crazy kin stampede onto the big screen under the watchful eye of director Ben Kellett and Lord help anyone who gets in her way!

Agnes proudly runs a fruit and vegetable stall in Moore Street Market, continuing a tradition that has been passed down in her family for generations.

She hopes to pass the stall to daughter Cathy (Jennifer Gibney) but a dastardly developer intervenes with plans to bulldoze the market. Aided by Cathy as well as next-door neighbour Winnie (Eilish O'Carroll) and her sons Mark (Pat Shields), Rory (Rory Cowan) and Dermot (Paddy Houlihan), Agnes resolves to take on the Irish establishment and give it a good spanking.

She is aided by a troop of blind trainee Ninjas tutored by Buster Brady (Danny O'Carroll), an alcoholic solicitor and a barrister called Mayo Archer (Robert Bathurst), who is prone to the occasional outburst of Tourette's.

Carl Casper (Jon Favreau) is the star attraction at a Los Angeles restaurant owned by Riva (Dustin Hoffman).

Prestigious food critic Ramsey Michel (Oliver Platt), who reportedly sold his online blog for 10 million dollars, makes a reservation at the restaurant and Carl excitedly plans a food truck and Carl excitedly plans a food truck menu with sous chef Tony (Bobby Cannavale), line cook Martin (John Leguizamo) and sassy hostess Molly (Scarlett Johansson).

But when Ramsey's poor review berates Carl for resting on his laurels, it ignites a bitter war of words on Twitter. Their argument spirals out of control and Carl publicly quits his job.

Ex-wife Inez (Sofia Vergara) invites Carl to accompany her

WALKING ON SUNSHINE certificate 12A, 1h37m

Cast in a similar mould to Mamma Mia!, Walking On Sunshine is a feel good summer musical that brings together colourful characters for a wedding to a soundtrack of some of the greatest hits of the 1980s.

Maddie (Annabel Scholey) enjoys a whirlwind romance with a handsome beau called Raphael (Giulio Berruti) and they decide to tie the knot. She invites her sister Taylor (Hannah Arterton) to Italy to break the news about the impending nuptials. But that's not the only shock for Taylor - Raf just happens to be the holiday romance she has always loved and now he's destined to walk down the aisle with her sibling.

While Taylor wrestles with her

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
Though thoughts may be stirred up by desire or ambition, you might be better to wait until you have a crystal clear idea of what you really want. However, there's good news as Mercury forges ahead from Tuesday, which means there'll be less delays and more chance of positive outcomes - so no need to put things on hold indefinitely. Call now for more news and astral advice...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
As the Sun opposes Pluto, you may be somewhat on the defensive, making it hard for others to connect with you on an intimate level. However, there can be a reason for this, especially if you're feeling emotional and need time to yourself. This isn't the time to rush a relationship decision. Be sure it's right for you before you go ahead. Call for your love scope in full...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
You may be intrigued by someone's puzzling motives. However, standing firmly by your intentions should help you cut through any nonsense, allowing you to make good progress. In addition, your loyalty to someone could undergo a challenge. While it's easy to dismiss them, giving them a further chance might benefit both of you. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
You may have some impressive ideas regarding your future, and this week letting others know could set the wheels in motion. However, tensions concerning a romantic opportunity should be handled carefully, as pursuing a budding liaison too passionately might actually put the dampers on it long term. Playing hard to get could be your best bet. Call for your love scope in full...

Tracey Waples Property Editor

IT'S that time of year again. The barbecues are out and we all start planning al fresco entertaining, hoping the UK summer will actually last long enough for us to enjoy it.

Now is one of the optimum times to view a property. Not only are the days longer and lighter but gardens are in full bloom and you can see the outdoor space on offer in the best possible light.

For many buyers, finding a property with a good quality, private and enclosed garden or outdoor space is a huge bonus.

Like location, one of the things you can't ever change about your home is its orientation. A small north, north-west or north-east facing garden will get very little sunlight and you'll have to rule out any dreams of a frothy herbaceous border. South, south-west or south-east facing rear gardens should be what you're looking for if you're keen to enjoy the sunshine.

Don't be put off by a jungle. Size is more important than current condition and clearing old debris or overgrown weeds is often not such a mammoth task as it looks.

You can never grow a small backyard but you can revamp a generous garden and add value to your property in the long term.

Trees can cast shade and cause patchy lawns as well as sucking the moisture out of neighbouring flower beds. Keep them in check.

Finally, check your boundary rights and responsibilities – they aren't always clear, take many different forms and can lead to tensions with the new neighbours.

You will usually be responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of the hedge or fence on one side of your garden.

On the market for £244,950

This extended family home at Partridge Court in Barn Mead, Harlow, has three bedrooms and is well presented throughout.

The rear garden has field views and a sunny aspect, is not overlooked and has been landscaped. It has been thoughtfully designed with a raised decking area with fixed solar lights and steps down to the main garden with a feature circular designed patio area.

Call Apple Tree Homes on (01279) 635975 for full details or to arrange a viewing.

Four-bedroom home for £390,000

Located in the popular Fenton Grange area of Church Langley, this detached family home has off-street parking for several cars and an en suite to the master bedroom.

There are four bedrooms, a charming kitchen/diner with double glazed sliding patio doors leading to the rear garden and a large lounge. A study has also been created by converting the garage.

The rear garden is mainly laid to lawn with plant and shrub borders and a decking area. There is driveway parking at the front for up to three vehicles.

Call Haart on (01279) 443311 for further details.

Spider might

www.harlowstar.co.uk

■ MATT KIMBERLEY

THE McLaren 650S Spider is essentially an evolution of the 12C, but with such a comprehensive spectrum of upgrades that, symbolically, it's more like a brand new car.

It's faster, better balanced and has an even broader range of talents at both ends of the performance/comfort scale.

Its mighty turbocharged V8 engine now has the sort of power you used to get only in unobtainium-rare hypercars, and the fact that the 650S is half a second faster to 100mph than the legendary McLaren F1 tells its own story. This thing is crushingly, breathlessly fast.

Looks and image

McLaren's engineers and test drivers are keen to point out that styling is a mere trifle of a concern to come after making sure the mechanicals are the best in the business. That said, a new front end adds significant downforce to keep those sticky-tyred front wheels pinned hard to the floor.

The image is in the same vein as

Fact File

McLaren 650S Spider

£215,250

ENGINE: 3.8-litre twin-turbo V8
TRANSMISSION: Seven-speed automatic
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 204mph
ECONOMY: 24.2mpg combined
CO₂ RATING: 275g/km of CO₂

Porsche's, in that McLaren is rightly seen as a technological powerhouse, whose cars' engineering prowess is the equivalent of a huge handlebar moustache and an improbably large chest. Ye olde concepts of masculinity blend with an appreciation for 21st century tech that works, and works astonishingly well.

Space and practicality

While you probably won't want to throw away the estate car just yet, the 650S Spider has a pleasantly cavernous front boot and, if you're willing to leave the roof up, a smaller extra boot between the seats and the engine.

There's plenty of practical space for weekend trips away – and as a rule McLarens are among the most used supercars of them all.

Behind the wheel

Full throttle in this car feels like being squeezed under a very large boot.

Your lungs struggle against the G-force as 650 apparently very cross horsepowers shove you back into your seat after the slightest of delays waiting for the two huge turbochargers to kick in.

Those turbos are a huge part of the appeal, whooshing and whistling and chuff-chuffing away like a glorious old steam train. Characterless is not an accusation you can level at this car.

But despite the pace and the simply stunning stability and usability of the chassis – which imbues the car with a bizarre agility that absorbs everything you can give it and consistently rewards you for it – the 650S also makes a shockingly comfortable everyday biffabout.

It's absolutely all the supercar you could ever need.

Value for money

This convertible version is a good £20,000 more expensive than the coupe, and since the one-piece carbon chassis requires no re-engineering for the purpose, those 20 big ones are pure profit for McLaren.

Still, the feedback from McLaren is that many (evidently Midas-rich) buyers think that, for the engineering and capability on offer, the 650S is actually underpriced.

Who would buy one?

Anyone who could afford a supercar of this calibre and appreciates technical and driving prowess ahead of outright badge heritage.

It's a mighty, mighty sports car and appeals more to those that want to drive it as the makers intended, rather than posers.

What's more, the 650S is comfortable and refined enough to use every day.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Records are smashed

AT a very hilly Great Easton five mile race which doubled as the Essex Championships, Harlow Running Club achieved three new club records and three Essex medals.

Steve Murtagh finished in 15th place out of 187 finishers, and was second Vet 50, to win the silver medal in his category in a fantastic time of 28 minutes and 33 seconds to create a new club Vet 50 record.

He was followed in by Jamie Jephcott (34th 31.06), Daniel Jephcott (57th 33.33) and John Tennant was 71st and won the silver medal in the Vet 60 with a time of 35.01.

Dionne Jones finished 57th in a personal best (PB) of 35.08 to create a new club ladies' Vet 40 record and Debbie Smith finished 147th in a PB of 43.14.

Paulene Galoppi, in her debut at the distance, came 179th and won the bronze medal in her ladies' vet 65 category in 49.50 and created a new club record in that category.

Other HRC times: Jon Steadman (86th 36.30); Colin Moody (90th 36.59); Pasquale Pellicchia (93rd 37.06); Robin Lozeau (108th 38.51); Debbie Barry (142nd 42.29); Vicky Calver (178th 49.27).

At the Gunpowder Park run 5K at Waltham Abbey, Graham George finished 18th out of 93 finishers in 22.50 and Andy Kinney was 47th in 27.11.

Richard Solomons finished the St Albans 5km park run in 65th, out of 290 finishers, in 21.36.

At the Penn seven mile race in Buckinghamshire, Andy Terrell was 15th out of 263 finishers in 47.55.

Jared Bethell came home first in the Hatfield Heath Festival three mile fun run, and Alan Broughton second out of 97 finishers.

Bauer nails it in Wales

WALES was the destination for Harlow's Great Britain Masters athlete Dave Bauer as father time showed no sign of taking hold of the Harlow Athletic Club veteran.

Bauer was competing in the principalty for the first time in his career.

He was taking part in the South West Veterans Championships, held in Brecon, jointly with the Welsh Championships.

He threw the heavy hammer (35 pound weight) a big distance, breaking his personal best (PB) with 11.37 metres for first place. This throw ranks him third in the UK Men's 45 age group.

Then he threw the discus 38.52m for another first place.

Following this, he threw the shot put 10.87m for another first place.

His final event was the hammer.

He threw this only 33.61m, but it was still enough to win.

"By this point I was very tired on what had been a very warm and long day. Some of the events had six pools of throwers and events did not run to time," said Bauer, 48.

Meanwhile, at an Eastern Vets League match held at Chelmsford, Harlow's Chris Clark (men's 45), threw the discus 21.55m for a season best (SB).

He also threw another SB in the hammer (23.72m) representing Chelmsford men's veterans team.

Bauer also competed. He threw the discus 38.37m for first place for Chelmsford and then threw the hammer 36.97m, a PB, and won the event for Chelmsford.

Chelmsford won the league match.

TOP flight England Basketball League action will come to Harlow Leisurezone for the first time following the announcement of a partnership between Harlow Hawks and Essex Leopards.

The Big Cats will play six to eight division one games on Saturday evenings while continuing to stage their other games at the Brentwood Centre.

Leopards won the league, play-offs and National Cup treble in 2012 before winning the National Trophy in 2013 and finishing as division one runners-up last season.

They normally recruit two American players who combine playing with coaching in local schools, with last year's 6ft 9ins tall forward Howard Crawford leading the league in points per game (20.8), total blocks (25) and free-throw percentage (78.3 per cent).

Hawks will continue to run a senior team in the Herts League together with junior sides in both national and local leagues, and head coach Shab Niaz is excited about the link-up with the Leopards.

"We've always wanted to run a team in the national league and working with the Leopards gives us the chance to do that," he said. "Hopefully watching top flight basketball will give the younger players something to aspire to, and we're excited that Leopards are coming to Harlow."

Leopards' general manager Dave Ryan is also excited about the Big Cats playing in Harlow, saying: "We've been looking for another venue to grow the club, and the Leisurezone is perfect."

"We're looking to become part of the sporting world in Harlow and hope that the people of the town will support us."

Father figure Horton on boxing comeback trail

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BOXER Richard Horton put his career in the sport on hold for five years to bring up his young son, but now the Harlow light-heavyweight has his sights firmly set on becoming a daddy in the ring once again.

The 32-year-old pugilist ends his ring exile at the Camden Centre in North London on Friday July 18.

Horton, who has been sparring with Ovíll McKenzie, the former Commonwealth light-heavyweight champion, at the famous Peacock Gym in Canning Town, East London, explained why he quit the ring.

He said: "We had a hard time after my little boy Charlie was born, so I quit my job to stay at home and look after him.

"Charlie is five-years-old now and going to school, so I can go back to doing what I love."

He continued: "I've been boxing since I was 17-years-old and I felt a huge void when I stopped.

"It was a real shock how

BOXING CLEVER: Richard Horton has returned to the ring after a five-year hiatus to bring up his son Charlie much I missed it, but I knew I would always come back.

"People have been asking me for the last five years when I'm boxing again and now I've got something to tell them!"

Horton has ambitions to take the Southern Area title off Leon Senior, then target the Lonsdale belt.

He said: "One day I definitely want the British title. I just need to get a couple of wins, then I will be ready to challenge for the Southern Area title and if I win that, I can move on.

"I'm feeling fitter and healthier than ever and I really do think I will achieve more this time around."

Horton made his professional debut back in February, 2006, but admitted: "It just didn't work out for me. I wasn't getting the fights."

Horton made a name for himself when he defeated South African Ruben Gronewald, who had previously fought world champion Carl Froch.

"I beat [former WBU champion] Ruben Gronewald and thought that would catapult me, but nothing really happened and when I did get a shot at the Southern Area title I got cut," explained Horton.

"Now I've got a great manager and trainer behind me and I want to go as far as I can."

Horton is being managed by Greg Steene and trained by Frank Greaves, while his sparring partner McKenzie has been a huge help.

"I couldn't ask for better sparring to help get the rust off. I've definitely still got my speed and I'm still hurting my sparring partners with body shots," he added.

Tickets for the show at the Camden Centre are available from 07720 271882.

Town do a Costa Rica to reach Dukes last 16

AKIN to Costa Rica topping England's World Cup group, Harlow Town progressed to the last 16 of the T20 Dukes Cup.

This was after finishing top in a group which contained premier division South Woodford and division one teams Woodford Wells and Hainault & Clayhall.

The division three side had defeated premier division South Woodford at Phoenix Park on Friday after a thrilling match.

The Woodford innings was built around a belligerent 63 from opener Ashley Leat.

Shaun Alderson (3-26), bowled an incredible spell of 10 balls for 0 runs taking three wickets, including the dangerous Leat who was sharply stumped by Pat Yates.

South Woodford finished on 139-7. Daniel Farmer picked up two wickets and Hass Ali one.

With the light already fading, Town set about their task with haste.

Pat Yates was easily run out without scoring.

Neil Gladwin (30), nursing a hamstring injury, was joined at the crease by skipper Ashley Alderson.

The two consolidated and then began to take the attack to the bowlers before Gladwin was dismissed with the score on 78, still well short of victory.

Ashley Alderson (56 not out) then began to work his magic, but with 45 needed off the last four overs things looked bleak.

Ashley continued to dominate the bowling, lofting a few balls 25 metres past the 65-metre boundary several times to take the required total to three off the final over.

With four balls left, Farmer was dismissed after a brilliant piece of fielding.

However, Ashley produced the finish required, cutting the fifth ball of the over for four to complete a memorable victory.

With progress secured, a much-changed side took on Woodford Wells in their final group match on Sunday afternoon at the picturesque Wells ground.

Wells batted first and opener Rishabh Shah was brutal, smashing 117 off just 51 balls.

The hosts finished on an impressive 200-3 from their 20 overs.

Tom Price (42), Matt Hurley (25) and Charlie Coleman (38) mounted a solid reply, but Peter McDermott (5-32) stalled the innings.

Farmer (22) and Shaun Alderson (36 not out) got the team into a winning position, requiring 10 off the final over from McDermott.

A flurry of wickets and runs left Town needing four off the last ball to tie the score.

But the Ash Tree Field team could not manage this and finished on 197-8, desperately close to another stunning win.

Meanwhile, table-topping Harlow Town crushed neighbours Epping by nine wickets as they continued their tremendous start to their Shepherd Neame Essex League division three campaign.

Epping won the toss and batted first.

The key partnership of Lycett (26) and Bagga (52) was broken by the impressive Ronnie Yates with an easy catch at slip from Neil Gladwin.

A quick fire 23 from Mithani briefly threatened but it was left to a final-wicket partnership of 28 to elevate Epping to 174.

Along with Yates' 4-27, Ramya Upadhyay finished with 3-24.

Pat Yates (78 not out) and Matthew Hurley (70 not out), promoted from the twos, demolished the Epping attack as Town comfortably reached the winning post (177-1), with 18 overs to spare.

Meanwhile, Town's second team (127-1) defeated Epping (125) by nine wickets, and the third side (168-9) beat Belhus (167) by one wicket.

The fourth team (244-5) drew with Belhus IV.

GABRIELLA Cowley remained in a good position to qualify for the British Ladies Amateur Championships after a solid first day of qualifying at Royal St George's in Kent.

Cowley, 18, right, of Thresher's Barn in Harlow, struck a two over par 76 and was joint 42nd on Tuesday.

She teed off on the second and final day of qualifying late yesterday (Wednesday) and was still on two over par when the Star went to press. Cowley's mixed first round included five birdies, two bogeys and two double bogeys.

The Championship will be played over four days and end on Sunday.

The top 64 players will qualify for the match play stages, which started at the crack of dawn this morning (Thursday).

Holland's Dewi Weber (69) was the top scorer on the first day of qualifying.

Clubhouse leader when the Star went to press on seven under par was Israel's Laetitia Beck (70 and 71).

Cowley represented Great Britain & Ireland in the Curtis Cup in the USA in June.

Cricketing legends to grace Harlow Town

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertssexnews.co.uk

IT has been hailed as arguably the greatest sporting occasion in Harlow since Gary Lineker's Leicester came here in the FA Cup in 1980.

The world-famous Lashings All Stars cricket team, which will descend on the town tomorrow (Friday) reads like a who's who of some of the sport's greatest names and it's FREE to watch.

West Indian legends Gordon Greenidge and Desmond Haynes plus Darren Sammy, captain of the Caribbean kings until earlier this year, will join up with South Africa star batsman Herschelle Gibbs and Pakistan's Saqlain Mushtaq in the first of two matches with the action starting at 2.30pm at Harlow Town Cricket Club's headquarters at Ash Tree Field in Elizabeth Way.

It could also be the last time that the Windies legends line-up for the Lashings team, which plays charity matches across the world. They will be joined by former England Test stars Phil Defreitas, Devon Malcolm, Martin Bicknell, Chris Schofield and Ed Giddens in a team with more than 570 Tests accumulated between them.

The side will be managed by former Essex and England star John Lever.

Completing the line-up are India's Wasim Jaffer, New Zealand's Scott Stryis and West Indian Corey Collymore.

The first match will see the Lashings team take on a Harlow

Town chairman's XI, and this will be skipped by Town veteran and second team captain Jason Gladwin.

He cannot wait for the occasion as he will be facing some of his idols from when he grew up as a boy watching the likes of Haynes and opener Greenidge.

Greenidge scored more than 7,500 runs in more than 100 Tests. Haynes also played more than 100 Tests, scoring just below the 7,500-run mark.

An excited Gladwin said: "As captain of the T10 first game, I cannot wait to play against a team with over 570 tests between them.

"As an opening batsman and growing up in the 1980s, I loved watching Greenidge and Haynes in their pomp, plundering runs in the great West Indies side of that era.

"For the people of Harlow, this is a once in a lifetime opportunity to see international cricket in our home town. We are really hoping the community comes down to support the event to create a carnival atmosphere that will be remembered for years to come."

After this match there will be a T20 match between Lashings and the Harlow Town CC Phoenixes.

Harlow Town CC chairman Stuart Alderson said: "After almost a year of planning it's hard to believe that we are now just days away from hosting one of the biggest sporting events ever seen in the town, certainly in cricket terms.

"The chance to host stars like Desmond Haynes and Gordon Greenidge and to be there when they walk out to bat together will be one of those 'where were you?' moments in the club history obviously helps. They are only playing together three times this year and ours will be the last one, so it could be the last ever game they take to the middle together.

"I am sure our bowling attack is looking forward to a challenge of some magnitude. I just hope the ground is big enough and we have enough spare balls."

Free car parking is also on site, with face painting, music, a tea and cake stall and wine tasting.

Thriller as Indian Premier League ace stars at Marigolds

THERE was a thrilling finish as Harlow tied with Hutton on the final ball of the game in Saturday's Shepherd Neame Essex League division one clash.

Needing just two runs for victory on the final delivery, Luke Heskett was run out as he tried to make it home to the wicket-keeper's end, undone by a sublime one bounce throw from the long-off boundary.

"With 14 to get in the last over with eight wickets down, it's a tough call to even get close," said captain Rehman Ahmed. "But, with Luke at the crease I knew we always had a chance, especially with spin on."

Hutton had posted a sizeable 274 all out after winning the toss and choosing to bat.

Hanuma Vihari produced one of the classiest knocks the Marigolds ground has witnessed in recent years.

Vihari won the U-19 World Cup with India and played for Sunrisers Hyderabad in the 2013 Indian Premier League season. He averages just below 40 in first class cricket.

He fell to left arm spinner Tom Ryder, lbw for 97.

Nicky Baxter then clean bowled both openers, McNally for six and Feeley for a duck.

Young Essex wicket-keeper Jack Potticary (36) was expertly caught behind by his counterpart Nino Calvino from the bowling of Luke Monger.

The visitors dug in, and when Baxter took the final two wickets to end on 4-49 from his nine overs, Hutton had handed Harlow a big task.

"Nicky's bowling is threatening at both ends of the innings and he takes wickets constantly.

He gives us something different in the attack, being a left arm seamer," added Ahmed.

The Harlow reply began cautiously, after they lost Calvino early to a controversial lbw.

Imran Qadir (73), skipper Ahmed (27), Ahmed Khawaja (41) and vice-captain John Perry (31) gave the hosts hope.

But as wickets fell Harlow were 214-8 when Baxter joined Heskett at the crease.

Despite their heroics, Harlow could not get the last run needed for victory.

Ahmed added: "We made it hard for ourselves, losing wickets at critical times. Everyone got starts and then got out which didn't help our cause. I knew we wouldn't lose as soon as Heskett hit that six at the death - we were all wishing for one more!"
